PALE ALE

Burning River Pale Ale is our brazenly hoppy rebuttal to those tired “mistake on the lake” jokes, and a delicious symbol of how far we’ve come in protecting our waterways. Now brewed with hops and malt from the Great Lakes region, our Pale Ale burns even brighter.

ABOUT THE STYLE:

Pale Ales evolved from Burton-upon-Trent, an English town known for its distinctive hard water supply. American Pale Ales are generally balanced, smooth, clean, and hop-forward, making them refreshing and approachable. Burning River Pale Ale utilizes Cascade and Centennial hops from Michigan and malt from Haus Malts in Cleveland.
