BEHIND THE NAME:

Prowl across Moondog ESB's label to sniff out a vintage ticket stub from the era that established our hometown's rep as a rock 'n' roll hotspot. Host to what's widely considered the first rock concert, Cleveland's been shaking, rattling, and rolling ever since. Our first bottled tribute to rock, Moondog has long delighted fans in our brewpub and beyond.

ABOUT THE STYLE:

ESB (Extra Special Bitter) is an easy-drinking style developed in England in the latter half of the 19th century. ESBs were originally cask ales served at cellar temperatures, under no pressure (hand pumped). They're traditionally lower in alcohol content with subtle malt aroma, mild to moderate fruitiness, and medium to high bitterness with floral hop flavor.
